

Delete the wrong alternative:

Will Kane, the former bank-clerk / marshal of Hadleyville, New Mexico Territory, has just married / divorced pacifist Quaker Amy and turned in his badge. He intends to become a storekeeper / marshal elsewhere. Suddenly, the town learns / Nobody knows that Frank Miller - a criminal Kane hanged a year ago / brought to justice - is due to leave town / arrive on the noon train. Miller had been sentenced to hang, but the rope broke / was pardoned. In court, he had vowed to forgive / get revenge on Kane and anyone else who got in the way. Miller's three gang members - including his old mother Emily / younger brother Ben - wait for him in jail / at the station. The worried townspeople encourage Kane to stay and to fight / leave, hoping that would defuse the situation. / Kane would be killed by Frank.

Kane and his wife leave town / are already aboard the train, but - fearing that the gang will leave Kane alone / hunt him down - Kane turns back. He can't find / reclaims his badge and scours the town for help. His deputy, Harvey, is the hero of the day / resigns. Helen Ramírez, Kane's former girl friend, still hates / supports him, but there is no possibility to leave town / little she can do to help. Disgusted by the cowardice and ingratitude of the town marshal / her neighbours, she sells her business and prepares to leave town. Amy threatens to leave by plane / on the noon train, with or without Kane, but he stubbornly refuses to give in. He interrupts Sunday church services to confess his sins. / looking for deputies. Many townspeople profess to admire Kane, but they want to help Frank Miller. / nobody volunteers.

In the end, Kane faces the Miller Gang alone. He makes friend with / shoots down two of them, though he himself is wounded in the fight. Helen Ramírez and Amy both board the train, but Amy hides under the seats / gets off when she hears the sound of gunfire. Amy chooses her husband's life over her religious beliefs, shooting Ben from behind / while having breakfast. Frank then takes her hostage to get the money from the bank / force Kane into the open. However, Amy suddenly faints / breaks free and dives aside, allowing Kane to kill him. As the townspeople emerge, Kane proudly presents his marshal's star / contemptuously throws his marshal's star in the dirt and leaves town with / without his wife.