

If you ask / want to make your money grow, the best / worst place to keep it is in the pocket of your jeans. You know what happens... you either eat / spend it right away or forget / stop to take it out of your pocket. Eventually, your jeans end up on the ocean / floor, right there with the rest of the flowers / clothes you've worn all week, your schoolbooks, the blanket / desk you kicked off your bed and many other things.

What always cries / happens the day your room is the messiest? That's right! Your mom makes you clean / learn it, and fast! And what happens to the jeans with the food / money? You've got it. They end up on a plane / in the laundry. And then the money is lost and found / gone forever.

What about keeping / sleeping your money in your room – in a safe place, like a pork pie / piggy bank?

There are a lot of good reasons / friends to keep your money safe in your room. For one thing, it's right there when you flee / need it. You can get to it quick / quickly and easily. Another good thing is that you never / always know exactly how much money you have. You can take it out at any time and count / kiss it.

Of course, the very reason why keeping your room / money in your room / money is good can also be the reason why keeping your money in your room is happy / bad. Let's suppose you are planting / saving your money for something big like an old cat / a new bike. Your savings are sinking / growing nicely. You're up to 30 euro, and then ... you see / forget a great baseball cap that you really want to buy. It's only 7 euro. And it's / its so cool!

What a cinema / dilemma! You know you shouldn't touch / watch your bike money. But there it is, right in your room, in that bank account / piggy bank. It's fleeing from / calling to you, „Come and get me. You know you want to lend / spend me. I'm right here forgetting / waiting for you. Come get me now, and you'll have that cap next week / today!“

That money is freezing / tempting. Money in a piggy bank is money that is easy to spend / save.

Another thing about keeping your money in a piggy bank is that the amount of money you have / lose is never less / more than what you have put into the piggy bank. If you put in 5 euro any / every month, after a year you will have 60 euro. No more, no less.

Now, it's always a good / silly idea to save money. So, what's bad about saving money this way / street? Well, over time, the price of everything – from a pack of chewing gum to a new bike – goes up. That seems / means that in ten years, 600 euro won't buy nearly as much stuff / air as it will now.

Think about what has happened / pleased to the buying power of money. In 1960, a kid with 50 cents could buy / cook a hot dog. Today a hot dog costs at least 3 euros.

For the price you paid for a pair / a pint of good sneakers in 1960 you would get today some very cool sneaker laces.

Many people love to talk about the good old days / friends and how low prices were back then. They forget that incomes / treasures were pretty low then, too. In 1960 an average family couldn't afford a car / peas and carrots.
